Preface

Drawing is one of the earliest and most natural forms of expression for a child. Before children learn to write words, they learn to express their thoughts, feelings, and imagination through lines, shapes, and colours. This Junior Nursery Art Book has been carefully designed to nurture creativity, observation, and confidence in young learners through joyful and structured drawing activities.

By associating each letter with a familiar object, children strengthen letter recognition while developing early drawing skills. Special sections on shapes—circle, oval, semi-circle, and triangle—help children understand basic forms that are the foundation of all drawings. Activities like drawing circles inside objects, completing simple pictures, and attempting guided sketches improve hand-eye coordination and fine motor control. The “I Can Draw” pages motivate children to explore their creativity independently.

Each page has been thoughtfully structured to move from guided practice to independent expression, ensuring that learning remains joyful and stress-free. Teachers and parents play an important role in encouraging children to explore freely, appreciate their efforts, and celebrate every small improvement.

We hope this Art Book inspires young learners to imagine boldly, draw confidently, and discover the joy of creating something beautiful on their own.
